SCHOOL REPORT

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens:

I herewith submit my fourteenth annual report of the schools of Allentown.

There were maintained during the year, three schools for a school year of 36 weeks, with no change in the teaching force.

The school enrollment was 70 (43 boys and 27 girls) with a daily average attendance of 95.51, a gain of 1.32 per cent over last year. This improvement leads us to expect that an average daily attendance of 98 per cent may be attained in the coming year.

The schools were in session on an average 350 half days.

I quote somewhat freely from the Report of the State Board of Education for the Biennial Period ending June 30, 1926, for the purpose that citizens and parents may more fully understand the duties which they are to perform in the making of good schools.

"School Year

When the 1919 school law was enacted, no feature seemed more chimerical to school board members and others familiar with New Hampshire country life than the standard that all children should have schools for at least thirty-six weeks each year. It was believed that for all time farm children, because of difficulties of travel and weather; must have less schooling than their urban cousins. It was held that farm children could not be spared from home duties, that roads were impassable and that weather conditions were beyond control. Accordingly the law provided that on petition, the State Board of Education for unusual circumstances, might shorten the school year for specified schools.

In one respect the record for 1925 was not a satisfactory one. In a number of towns there were scattered cases of scarlet fever in the spring months. This resulted in a degree of panic in some places and closed schools. In others, the school boards and health officers were wiser. Schools were kept open, all pupils watched carefully for the isolation of incipient cases and the disease promptly stamped out.

In 1926 school boards consistently refused to be stampeded by contagious diseases and every school in the state was open for the full year.

A plan which is gaining approval among school boards is to contract for 360 half-days of service in thirty-seven working weeks. By this plan, every day lost for any cause may be made up. Some of our school boards, through carelessness, are permitting many half-days each year to be lost."

"School Attendance

The New Hampshire school attendance law is very simple. All children must attend a public or an approved private school every day that the school is in session from their eighth to sixteenth birthdays, or to their fourteenth birthday if they have then completed the eighth grade. There is no excuse except physical or mental incompetence. Neither poverty of parents nor isolation of the home may stand in the way. At least eight years of schooling is an inalienable right of New Hampshire children.

For thirty years this law has been unchanged and has been enforced. For this purpose, each district has its own truant officer. Commonly these men are vigilant and effective. The cities are particularly well served. In the small towns often difficulties arise due to the fact that the truant officer and the negligent parent are neighbors or relatives and an official act is likely to be regarded as a personal one. For this reason we have many calls for aid from a state attendance officer."

"Cost of Instruction in Schools

	Per Pupil
One-room rural schools	$49.13
Village elementary schools	34.21
City elementary schools	43.32

This table gives the average cost per pupil for instruction in elementary schools of the three types. The salary of the teachers is the only item of instruction considered. The teachers in the rural schools are the lowest paid but the small size of the school makes the per pupil cost very high. It is even higher than in city schools where teachers may receive double the salary.

Experience shows that with fewer than ten pupils a satisfactory school can seldom be maintained, and for the best work a school should enrol at least 15. Yet 100 schools number fewer than ten and 150 more fewer than 13. Nearly all of these are rural schools. Business economy and educational efficiency require for these schools the consideration of transportation rather than local school maintenance. On the other hand, a one-room rural school which enrolls 25 pupils or over needs a particularly competent teacher or division, with the transportation of upper grades to another school. One-room schools are expensive. We believe, however, that they should be maintained when sufficient children can be gathered to make a real school.

In any attempt to reduce the cost of schools, attention should be given to the very small schools. It is evident that in a school of 6 pupils the per pupil cost of maintenance alone will average $120.00."

MUSIC

The results in music were very gratifying under the able instruction of Martha F. Gale whose report follows.

DOMESTIC ARTS

The work of this department has been done in a satisfactory and progressive manner. The details of the work may be found in Mrs. Benware's appended report.

MANUAL TRAINING

This department of work has been conducted by three cadet teachers from the Keene Normal School, each cadet teaching for a period of nine weeks. The work done is that outlined at the Keene Normal School. Each cadet is informed of the work done by his predecessor, and instructed in the work he is to do, in order that the class-room work may be continuous. Under this plan good results have been attained.

HEALTH

Health inspection was conducted by Miss Katherine A. O'Donnell, R. N., of Manchester, N. H. Miss O'Donnell was efficient and enthusiastic in her work and through her work in the school and home taught the pupils to practice better health habits. In Miss O'Donnell's report you will find her work in detail.

I believe it is generally acknowledged that no problem of school management is of more importance than the care of conditions effecting the physical welfare and health of the pupils.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS

At these meetings able and instructive addresses were given by Dr. E. W. Butterfield, Commissioner of Education, "A Worthy Use of Leisure Time;" Headmaster Harold M. Smith of Pembroke Academy, "English;" Miss Phila Griffin, State Agent for Rural Schools of New Hampshire, "History;" Miss Bernice Batchelder, Former Instructor in Bridgewater, Mass., Normal School, "Geography;" William Y. Morrison, State Agent for High Schools of New Hampshire, "The Development of Teachers" and Louis P. Benezet, Superintendent of Schools of Manchester, "Reading."

At other meetings the subject of Economy was discussed as shown in the use of a daily time-table of recitations, in the distribution of scholars supplies, and in the care and use of text-books.

These meetings serve a useful purpose in keeping alive a professional spirit and in improvement in school management and methods.

Various standardized tests were given throughout the year with emphasis placed upon the fundamental processes in Arithmetic.

The teachers were faithful and efficient and improved their work through attendance at summer schools, teachers' institutes, and by reading books and magazines on education.

Parents and citizens are cordially invited to visit the schools frequently.

In conclusion I express my appreciation for your cooperation and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY S. ROBERTS,
Superintendent of Schools.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

MR. HENRY S. ROBERTS, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:

This is the third annual report submitted of the work done in the Domestic Science Course of the Allentown School.

The work has progressed along the lines carried out in previous years. Three new girls were admitted to the classes and their industries have been very satisfactory.

There is one phase with which I have to contend a little and about this I have decided to make mention in this report. It is not to find fault for I feel that it is more a misconstruction than anything else. There is a little feeling that the marks gained in Sewing and Cooking are not so important as those received from other studies and that it is not necessary to pay much attention to a good ranking mark. This is a wrong idea for the lessons learned in this course are just as valuable and worth while in developing mentality and preparing for future life as those which have been the part of the school curriculum for a longer period of time.

The longer I teach Domestic Science the more I can see what a great benefit this special study is to all classes of girls. I find that the girls exercise better judgment on the value of every day affairs in their homes. Dish washing doesn't seem to be such a drudgery when a little science is applied to it.

I have tried to teach them the habit of economy and thrift, to be careful and painstaking in their work. The girls have responded readily which is a great help to both pupil and teacher and I feel that these lessons learned have helped them in their other studies.

One exhibition has been given in which the girls had a lesson in cooking and their completed sewing was on display.

Plain towels, guest towels, sewing bags, cooking aprons and caps, fancy aprons, underwear, dolls clothes, costume designing of doll dresses, study of the commercial dress patterns, practice cutting from the same, and the making of simple summer dresses for themselves have been the projects for the year.

To the Parents, School Board and Superintendent, I express my appreciation for their hearty co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

EDNA BENWARE,
Teacher of Domestic Science.

MUSIC

August 25th, 1926.

MR. HENRY S. ROBERTS, Superintendent of Schools

Dear Sir:

On this day, when one of the greatest educators of our country is laid to rest, I recall his words: "Next to the study of English, music is the greatest mind trainer on the list." So thought and so spoke Dr. Charles Eliot. William Burns, head of the famous detective agency, states: "Show me the city with the maximum of music and artistic entertainment and I will show you the city with the minimum of crime."

Today, I heard the band of the Industrial School in Manchester. How they did enjoy playing! And how I wished that our boys (and girls too) in Allenstown could have a similar opportunity to learn to play a band instrument.

Youth is bubbling over with a super-abundant energy. As one educator said: "One of the reasons for the crime wave which is sweeping over the country is because our young people find time hangs heavily on their hands. Do something, they must, and unless they have resources within themselves, the chances are ten to one that they will get into mischief." And it is here that I maintain that music comes in. It is one of the best forms of occupation imaginable, especially the playing of a band or orchestral instrument. Playing an instrument involves three senses:—Sight, Hearing and Touch. It causes the faculties of time, rhythm and muscular response to be brought out in co-ordination as nothing else does. As this report, while submitted to you, and to the Board of Education, is read, I trust by many parents, I want to enlarge on this phrase of musical instruction, and urge the mothers and fathers to encourage and aid their children to study some instrument, and may the time be not far off, when Allenstown will loan to its pupils, instruments of various kinds, just as we now loan them books, work benches, cooking utensils, etc.

What of value can a child who has studied with and participated in a school musical organization carry into the business world after graduation? This is a practical question. No matter what kind of work he or she enters, the progress is largely governed by how well they can get along with those with whom they are working. They may be well equipped in every way, but if unable to co-operate, failure will result, due to lack of team work. And team work is an essential part of music organizations. Discipline comes hard when learned late in life, but playing in a school band or orchestra teaches concentration, attention and alertness and develops the memory along with other faculties which are going to be needed later in strong competitive business. The boy who is interested in music will not go far wrong. We are told that the day is divided into three parts: eight hours for work, eight hours for rest and eight hours for leisure or enjoyment. Rest requires no preparation. Work is prepared for more or less adequately in the studies taken up in school and elsewhere. But how much of our education is devoted to training for the enjoyment of life? We spend all sorts of sums of money to equip reform schools, houses of correction, etc. But one of the most potent correctives is music, especially when administered in the form of playing a band instrument. The joy that music brings to the performer on some instrument can never be stolen from him by delusive pleasures.

So music in the schools is a preparation for good citizenship—a good character builder. It seizes the soul of the child when it is most susceptible and molds it in forms of beauty and sincerity. A school that has an orchestra or a band can hold its head high—Its morale is improved.

How many children would become interested to learn the fine things in literature if they were not taught in school? Similarly, how will the average child learn the great masterpieces in music, if he does not form a taste for them in school? With this idea in mind, our Allenstown boys and girls for a number of years past have been introduced to some of the best music by means of the reproducing machine, and during the last year, even the youngest children learned some of the classics.

During National Music Week, Mrs. Mary Shaw Raynes gave the children a program of songs which they highly enjoyed.

The music for graduation was of two kinds: one in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of our country and the other honoring Stephen C. Foster, America's foremost writer of folk songs, which were woven together into the form of an operetta in which all grades participated. I cannot too highly commend the work of all the teachers whose interest and co-operation have made possible whatever measure of success we have attained.

Thanking you and each member of the School Board for your help and interest and trusting that the music in the Allenstown Schools in the coming years will make a high type of American citizens, I respectfully submit this report.

MARTHA F. GALE,
Music Supervisor.

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE, ALLENSTOWN

MR. HENRY S. ROBERTS, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:

In my visits to the schools I examined the pupils for defects of eye, ear, teeth, throat and lungs, and when found I notified the parents by cards. I also visited the homes to assist the parents in correcting these defects, suggesting remedies and other remedial aid.

I placed upon the walls, dental charts and cards of health rules, and with the teachers encouraged contests to see which pupils would practice the greatest number of these rules. Each child's name was enrolled on a chart and a star placed after the name of the child performing the required tasks. The greatest number of stars indicated the winner.

The children were measured and weighed to ascertain if they were up to standard in height and weight; if they were found to be under weight they were instructed as to diet and health habits.
